

Claims

What is claimed is:

5 1. An addition to three-dimensional stuffed or plush articles designed to incorporate a product-holder interface panel.

 2. The addition to three-dimensional stuffed or plush articles according to claim 1 where the product-holder interface panel is a standardized insert attached in a temporary fashion to 10 said three-dimensional stuffed or plush articles.

 3. The addition to three-dimensional stuffed or plush articles according to claim 2 where said product-holder interface panel has product holders permanently attached thereto.

 4. The addition to three-dimensional stuffed or plush
15 articles according to claim 3 where commonly available and thus standardized CD sleeves, photograph holders or note paper bindings are permanently attached to said product-holder interface panel.

 5. The addition to three-dimensional stuffed or plush articles according to claim 3 where custom designed CD sleeves,
20 photograph holders or note-paper bindings are permanently attached to said product-holder interface panel.

 6. The addition to three-dimensional stuffed or plush articles according to claim 3 where a generic product holder is permanently attached to said product-holder interface panel, said
25 product holder sized to house articles that may be but are not limited to stationery items, jewelry, and consumable food items.

 7. The addition to three-dimensional stuffed or plush articles according to claim 3 where a closure mechanism is engaged to contain said product-holder interface panel and permanent 30 attachments thereto from handling and damage.

 8. The addition to three-dimensional stuffed or plush articles according to claim 3 where a handle is added as part of the inventive design or to the original stuffed or plush article utilizing said inventive design, thus providing portability.

35